Brief Bio

Cheryl Lindsay was born and raised in Cleveland, Ohio. She attended the University of Pennsylvania and earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics with a concentration in Marketing. In 2012, she graduated with honors from Ashland Theological Seminary with a Master of Divinity degree with a concentration in Evangelism and Church Renewal. The Doctor of Worship Studies at The Robert E. Webber Institute of Worship Studies was conferred upon Cheryl in June 2018.

Cheryl enjoyed a successful career in financial services prior to launching her own business. In 2008, she accepted the call to pastoral ministry and served at Mt. Zion Congregational Church, United Church of Christ in various capacities. She is a contributing author to Those Sisters Can Preach: 22 Pearls of Wisdom, Virtue and Hope and Lesser Evils: Daily Reflections on Seeking Wisdom. Cheryl A. Lindsay Ministries specializes in developing worship planning communities, revitalizing liturgy and worship design, infusing worship with the creative arts, and coaching worship leaders. In 2019, Cheryl was called as pastor and teacher to First Congregational UCC of Wellington, Ohio. The United Church of Christ named Cheryl as the Sermon Seeds Writer and Editor in 2020 and expanded her role to Minister for Worship and Theology in 2022. In this work, Cheryl provides worship resources, theological reflections, and bible studies for the denomination and Christian faith communities around the world.

Cheryl believes that God has called her to use all her gifts for the glory of God. Her hobbies include singing, creative writing, crafting and drama. She has volunteered on numerous boards and committees in the communities she serves and currently serves on the boards of the ACLU of Ohio and the Community Life Collaborative. In addition, she is a proud member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

Cheryl loves to connect on social media and can be found @RevDrCherylL on most platforms.
